Investment Policy and Objective

The Stanbic Income Fund Trust (“SIFT” or “the Fund”) is an open-ended unit trust fund. The primary objective of the Fund is to seek medium to long-term sustainable income and capital appreciation of its assets. It does this by investing in a portfolio of fixed income securities including government treasury securities, fixed deposits and other corporate debt securities.

Up to 85% of assets under management are invested in medium to long-term corporate and government debt securities while retaining a maximum of 40% in money market securities and a minimum of 3% in cash.

Risk Rating

Low	Medium	High
-----	--------	------

The slowdown in activity on the bond market and reduced access to liquidity has increased the overall risk of the fund from medium to high.

Distribution

SIFT does not distribute earnings. All earnings are reinvested in the Fund which impacts on the net asset value of the Fund. Investors seeking to withdraw earnings will have to sell part of their units to realize their earnings.

Fund Review and Strategy

SIFT's assets under management were GHS 430M at the end of November 2023. The fund's year-to-date return was -7.7% and 16.4% (AMC sub-class), with a year-to-date benchmark of 19.9%. At the end of November, the combined fund had 88% of its assets in bonds, 6% in money market securities, and 6% in cash and near-cash. The overweight in bonds results from the fund's participation in the domestic debt exchange program. The fund's strategy is to remain conservative by investing in short-term fixed deposits. The AMC has a weighted term to maturity of two months, in line with the strategy to provide adequate liquidity to meet obligations.

Market Overview

In November, treasury bill rates exhibited a marginal descent, associated with the influence of the weekly Initial Pricing Guidance. As we navigate December, the resilience of the cedi faces potential fragility, given delays in both the cocoa syndication loan and the disbursement of the second tranche of the IMF loan, compounded by persistent heightened demand for foreign exchange. Notwithstanding these dynamics, inflation should continue its downward trend, attributed principally to a favorable base effect. This development is likely advantageous for investors, as negative real returns are expected to reduce.
